LLACHON/TAQUILE/PUNO

After breakfast we will have a short briefing session and receive the appropriate safety equipment to embark on our sea-kayak adventure. Paddling along the coast of the peninsula, with spectacular views of the shoreline, farmlands with local crops and the local people plowing their lands and feeding the cattle. On the way we will meet trout farms, fishermen and reed stands that are home to native and migratory birds. We leave the point after an hour and cross the lake towards the island of Taquile. On arrival we disembark, store our kayaks on shore and enjoy a tasty lunch. In the afternoon our boat will be waiting for us at Taquile's dock to a boat ride back to Puno and we will stop at the Uros Floating Islands. Inheritors of an ancient culture, these lake nomads rely on the lake resources to subsist, just as their ancestors did, while living in their floating islands made out of Totora Reed, a unique way of life. From here we will get to Puno and be transferred to our Hotel.
