FROM MICROBREWS TO LONDON'S BREWERY SCENE

While Portland may be the epicenter of the American craft-beer renaissance, many are aware that the beloved IPA was invented in London, formulated to survive long voyages and exported to faraway countries. Today, London is reviving its craft beer history, with a myriad of flavors and styles to choose from, a multitude of craft brewers, and plenty of hole-in-the-wall pubs to drink in. London also has a storied history with gin and opportunities abound to learn more about modern-day small-batch gin production.

EXPERIENCE AFTERNOON TEA

From the coffee capital to the tea capital, Portland and London have a shared interest in hot beverages shared in quaint cafés. Take a tea class with step-by-step instructions and recipes for making classic British scones and sandwiches, followed by an afternoon tea in the sitting room.

FROM FOOD CARTS TO BOROUGH MARKET

The bustling Borough Market, one of the oldest and largest street markets in London, is a bespoke food sanctuary. Although the market's history stretches back over 1,000 years, the market remains a reflection of London's dynamic and cosmopolitan character. As the city's premier artisan food hub, there are so many culinary opportunities that it would take weeks to try everything. From time-honored British comfort food, high-quality imported goods from around the world, and to the street food vendors serving authentic classics brought from their home country, the Borough Market has everything that a foodie could ever dream of trying. Using only biodegradable packaging and recycling all waste – this iconic melting pot is environmentally sustainable and socially responsible.

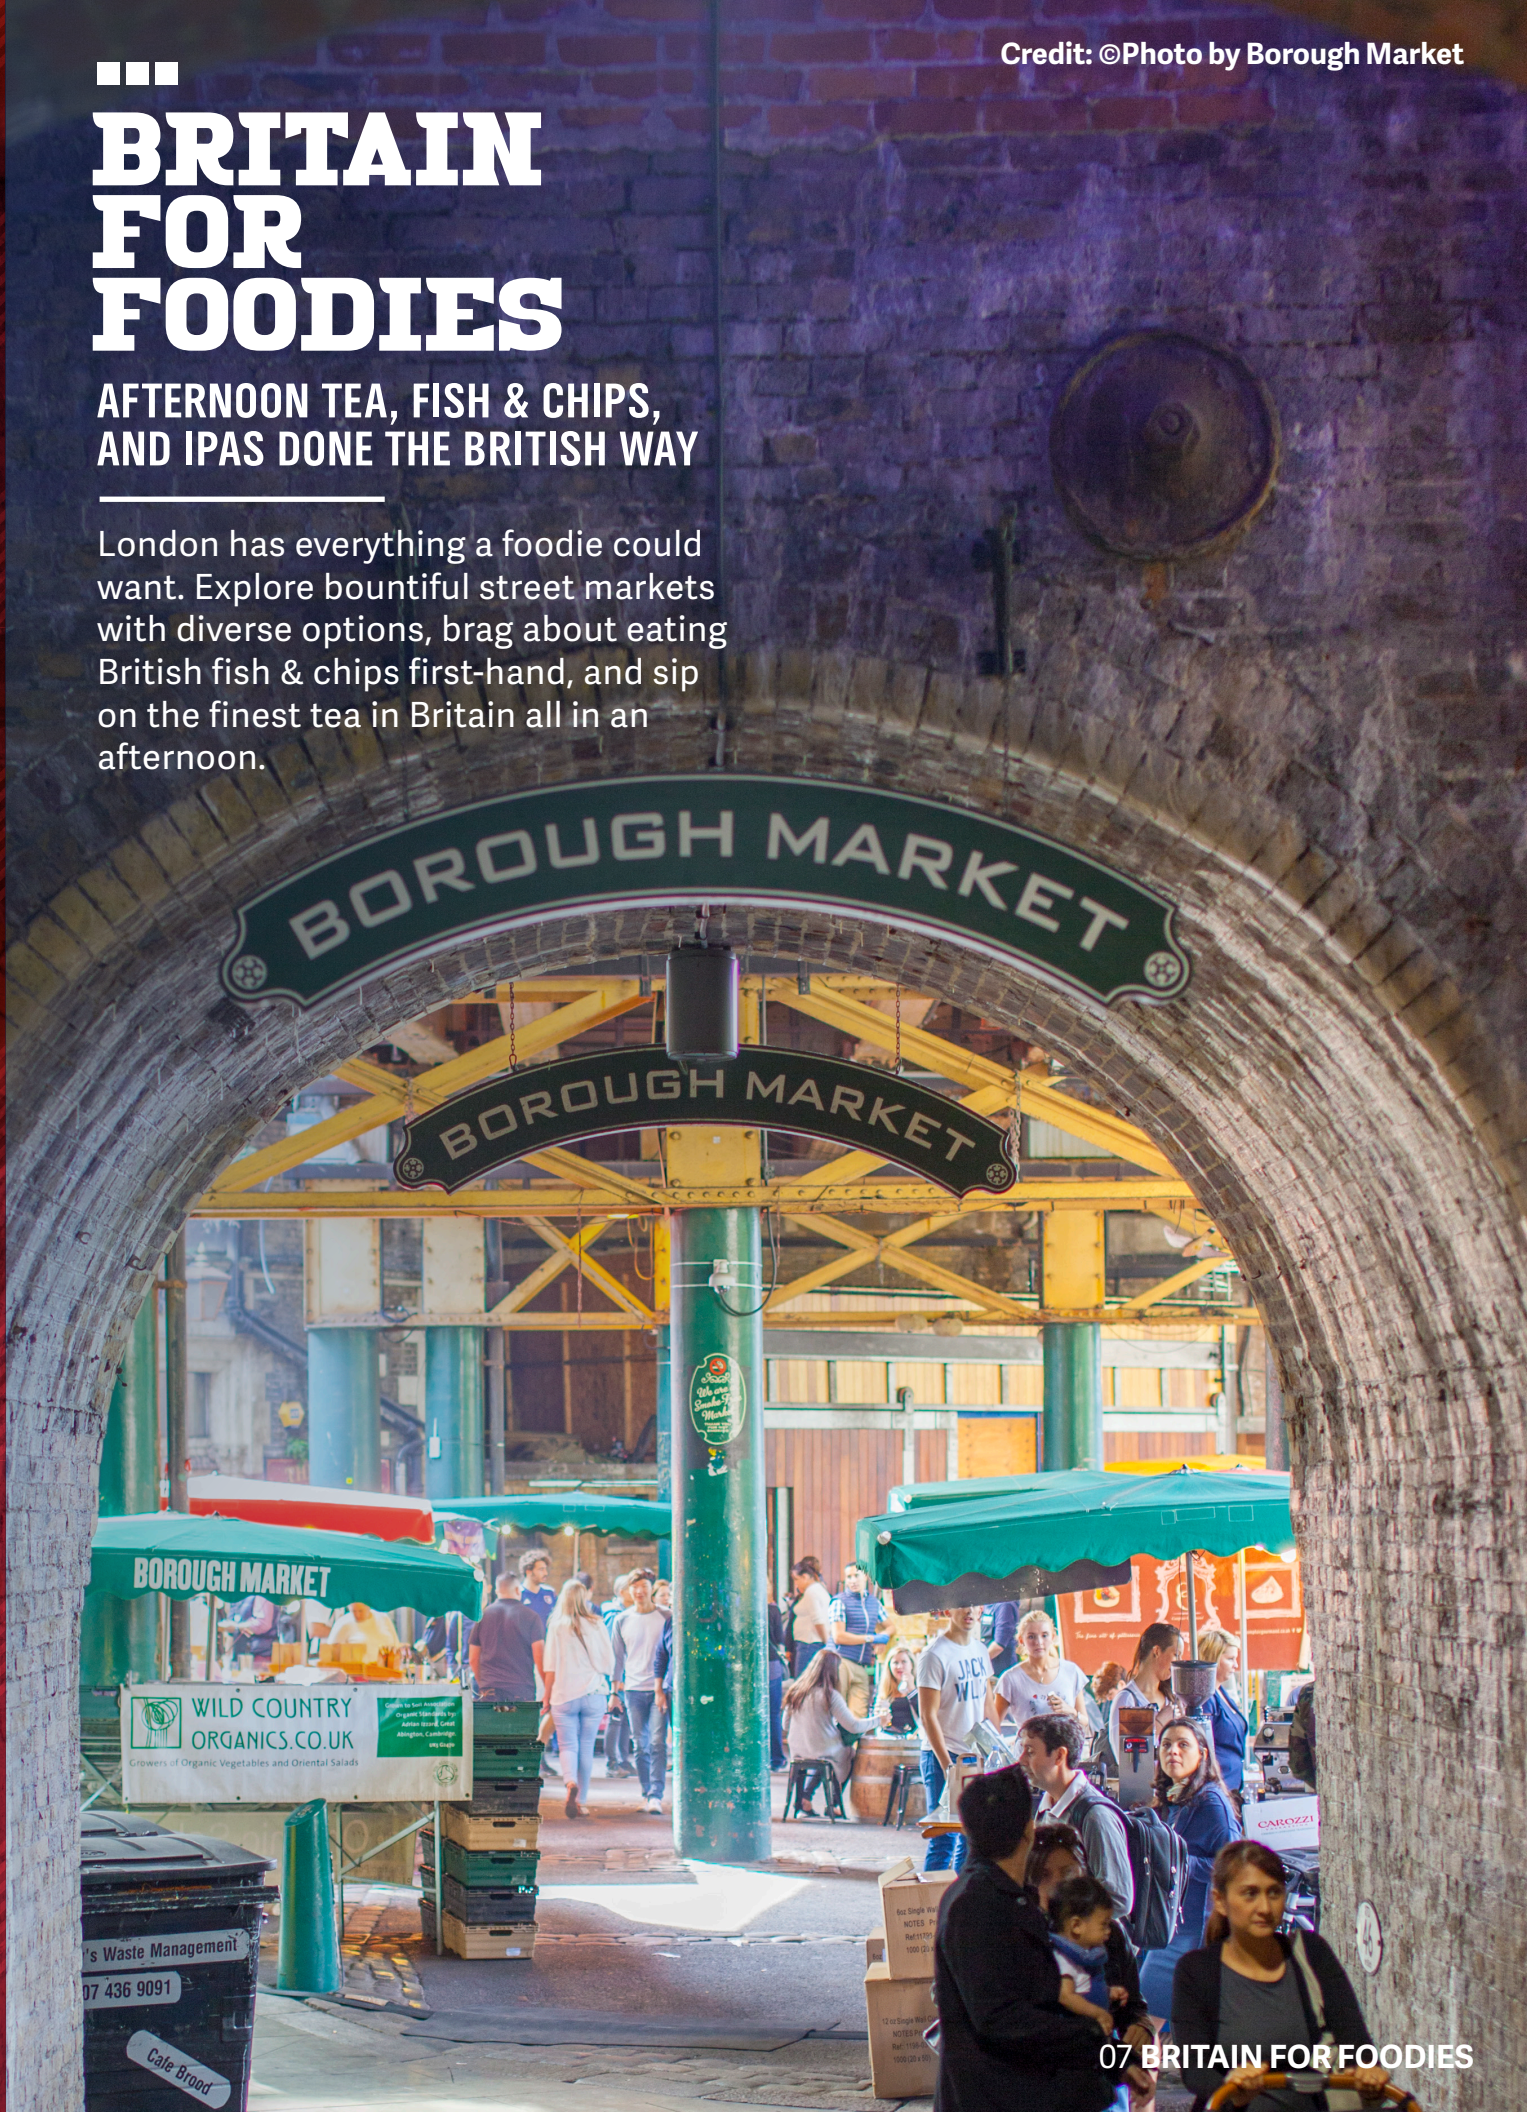

BRITAIN FOR FOODIES

AFTERNOON TEA, FISH & CHIPS, AND IPAS DONE THE BRITISH WAY

London has everything a foodie could want. Explore bountiful street markets with diverse options, brag about eating British fish & chips first-hand, and sip on the finest tea in Britain all in an afternoon.

THE FAN FAVORITES

FROM PROVIDENCE PARK
TO PREMIER LEAGUE

Roaring tributes and world-class football. Witness the thrill of a Premier League game on one of London's grand stadiums.

PREMIER- LEAGUE FOOTIE

Of course, no trip to London would be complete without cheering on your favorite Premier League team in one of London's grandiose stadiums. From Tottenham's brand new 62,026-seat home to Chelsea's Stamford Bridge Stadium and Arsenal's Emirates Stadium, London loves football. The season runs from August through May and no London vacation is truly complete without watching a match or touring one of these famous stadiums.

LONDON THEATRE

From Shakespeare's Globe to the brutalist architecture of the Barbican Centre, London is the birthplace of English literature and home to a rich tradition of theater and storytelling. London remains one of the world's premier destinations for the theatrical arts. Avanti can provide the full London Theater experience with dinner included, booking tickets to some of the best showings in town, including Le Misérables at the Queen's Theater, Phantom of The Opera at Her Majesty's Theater, and much more. With over 230 professional theaters in London, no trip is complete without seeing a show.

FROM GRIMM TO GAME OF THRONES

HBO's Game of Thrones has taken the world by storm over the last decade and has renewed interest in exploring the rugged moors and coastlines of Northern Ireland where many of the show's iconic scenes are filmed. Walk amongst the otherworldly collection of over 40,000 basalt columns in the Giant's Causeway. Stop for a photo on the King's Road, colloquially known as the Dark Hedge where a natural archway of intertwined trees has formed.

INCH ABBEY

HARRY POTTER

Fans of the beloved Harry Potter films will immediately recognize these locations from the movies. From the Glenfinnan Viaduct in Scotland that was used as the bridge for the Hogwarts Express, to the Oxford's libraries disguised as Hogwarts Library, and to London's King's Cross Station that was transformed to the famous Platform 9¾. For the full experience, take a road trip from England to Scotland to find all these locations. Avanti also offers an exclusive Making of Harry Potter tour at the Warner Bros. Studio in London.

LEAVESDEN

DWNTON ABBEY

The period piece Downton Abbey revived interest in the Edwardian-era of English history and with it came a renewed attraction to the English countryside and quaint villages where much of the TV series was set. Visit Highclere Castle, the on-screen home of the Crawley family, set amidst the expansive and rolling farmlands that are the backdrop of Downton Abbey.

The long awaited film will premiere in the US on Friday, September 20, 2019.

Walk in the footsteps of some of the world's most beloved characters, exploring the filming locations of iconic TV shows and films. From James Bond, Harry Potter, Mary Poppins, Doctor Who, Downton Abbey, Game of Thrones, and more - the sets of these all-time favorites are now closer than ever.

FOOTSTEPS OF THE ROYALS

FROM PORTLAND'S WEIRD TO LONDON'S
POSH, EXPERIENCE HISTORIC SPLENDOR

Exchange Pioneer Square for Hyde
Park and Trafalgar Square.
London's royal grandeur is unrivaled,
abound with ornate architecture and illustrious craftsmanship.

BUCKINGHAM PALACE

For only 8 weeks a year, visitors have the once-in-a-lifetime opportunity to view the State Rooms of this legendary palace! These rooms, used on occasion by The Queen to entertain her guests, will surely leave you awestruck. Of course, make sure to watch the timeless Changing of the Guard ceremony.

THE ROYAL HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY

The Royal Horticultural Society is dedicated to the art of gardening and holds many spectacular flower shows across the United Kingdom, including the famous RHS Chelsea Flower Show held in May. Through the RHS' promotion of gardening across the United Kingdom, travelers from the Pacific Northwest will feel right at home amongst the green pastures, vibrant flowers, and lush trees of the RHS gardens.

KENSINGTON PALACE

As the childhood home of Queen Victoria and the current residence of Prince William and Catherine, Duchess of Cambridge, Kensington Palace has a rich history stretching back to the 17th-century.

Today, certain historical areas of the palace can be explored, including the splendidly decorated Cupola Room in the King's Apartments. At the center of the palace is the jaw-dropping Luminous Lace installation, made of almost 4km of electroluminescent wire and containing nearly 12,000 Swarovski crystals.

After you're done inside, finish your visit with afternoon tea or an elegant meal at the Orangery Restaurant on the palace grounds.

YORK

An easy 2-hour train ride from London, the medieval walled city of York has a history stretching back to its Roman roots. Easily explored walking atop the narrow cobblestone streets, discover this city's immense legacy by visiting the Jorvik Viking Center, the National Railway Museum, and the York Minster – Northern Europe's largest Gothic cathedral.

EDINBURGH

With the picturesque Edinburgh Castle overlooking the town, the capital city of Scotland won't disappoint. From the Michelin starred restaurants (2nd most in the UK) made from local Scottish ingredients to the cobbled alleyways of Old Town, Edinburgh is a sensory delight and a must-see city. Only a 4-hour train ride from London, Edinburgh seems like a city trapped in time – perfect for anyone who wants a taste of true Scottish flavor.

CARDIFF

The cultural center of Wales, Cardiff serves as the perfect jumping-off destination for any Welsh adventure. With a hardy cuisine that matches its rugged landscape, the Welsh people are proud but some of the most welcoming in the United Kingdom. Cardiff is a lot like Portland, featuring a walkable city center that features a plethora of locally-owned boutiques including record stores, coffee shops, hole-in-the-wall diners, and castles!

PARIS

What more can be said about Paris? Only 2 hours away from London by rail, Paris is obviously one of the world's most important centers of art, fashion, food, culture, and everything in between. From museums to monuments, Paris is the iconic romantic getaway. If you haven't already, make a quick Parisian pit stop to cross off some items from your bucket list.
