CORNWALL

SOUTHERN INDULGENCE

A visit to the South West country of Cornwall never disappoints—not only is the region blessed with the best of the British weather, but also with some of the finest food and drink. A journey along the coast will cover many picturesque fishing towns and present numerous opportunities to sample the morning's local catch, be it delicious oysters or crab, or traditional fish and chips.

The beauty of Cornwall lies in its diversity. Its ideal location and mild climate makes it a perfect destination with a wide variety of products, managing to please all of its visitors.

Whether you are looking for exquisite delicacies in a Michelin starred restaurant, hearty meals in the Cornish countryside or just a quick bite at the local pub, Cornwall deserves nothing but praise.

LONDON

CAPITAL WONDERS

London has long been a melting pot of people and cultures, and nothing illustrates this better than the city's diverse culinary and bar scenes—from Michelin-starred restaurants to innovative street food.

A plethora of exciting artisan producers work out of London, including gin distillers, craft beer brewers, and chocolatiers. Not only that, but you can find the best produce from across Britain at one of London's many food markets.

As a city that welcomes people from all over the world, London has been enjoying cultural influences like no other, maintaining its status as a culinary powerhouse. In a state of constant evolution, this capital will always manage to seduce you with something new on the dining table, may it be local, foreign or fusion. All you must do is stay excited and hungry.

YORKSHIRE

NORTHERN FLAVORS

The people of Yorkshire are immensely proud of all aspects of their county, especially their food and drink. Yorkshire has a diverse landscape featuring cosmopolitan cities, pretty market towns, rugged coastline and the famous Moors and Dales, something which is reflected in the range of food and drink experiences on offer.

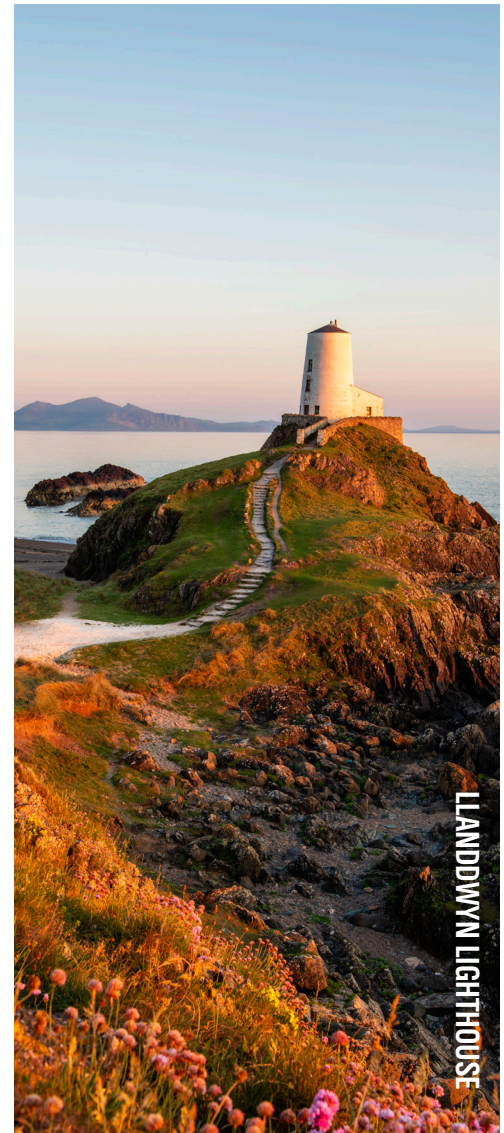

Today, some of Britain's best meat, cheese, beer and baked goods producers can be found here and, from local markets to renown restaurants, there is no better place than Yorkshire to sample these local delicacies.

CULTURE AROMAS

A country's character is best described on the dining table and Wales is no different. The beloved Welsh cakes, rarebits or vegan Glamorgan sausages, all contribute to the culinary scene, each with a different story to tell. Tales of prosperity or hard times, you will learn them all while indulging in the local cuisine.

Modern Welsh cooking is about top-quality ingredients; cooked simply, to let natural flavors shine through. Indulge in lamb from mountains and saltmarshes, Welsh Black beef, Carmarthen ham, and abundant seafood. To wash it down, turn to ales from artisan breweries, Welsh wine, whisky, and gin, as well as plenty of fresh spring water.

STUNNING CUMBRIA

Cumbria is an area of immense beauty. Stunning lakes, valleys and stone-built villages reminisce the romantic setting of ages past. Adored by both locals and eager travelers, the Lake District attracts visitors all year round with its unique charm that changes with every season.

Aside from the already known beauties within, Cumbria's fame lies in its locally-sourced and carefully-crafted Northwestern food and drink. A place that truly understands the art and craft of cuisine, it has and still delights us with exquisite products such as Grasmere Gingerbread, sticky toffee pudding and, of course, the Cumberland sausage.

The Lake District also boasts the highest concentration of Michelin stars outside of London, cementing the area's reputation as a superb destination for foodies. Country pubs can be found in almost every corner, where many craft beers can be enjoyed along with tales and legends from the friendly locals.

LONDON HIGHLIGHTS

- ◆ Full English Breakfast
- ◆ Toad in the Hole
- ◆ Afternoon Tea
- ◆ Curries
- ◆ Sticky Toffee Pudding

DON'T MISS...

The Full English. The Full Monty. A Fry-up. Call it what you want, but there are few nations in this world that do breakfast better than the english. Digging into a piping hot fry-up is an experience that can set you right no matter what situation you are in.

A DEFINITE MUST...

Sticky toffee pudding is a British favorite consisting of a very moist sponge cake, made with finely chopped dates, covered in a toffee sauce often served with vanilla custard or vanilla ice-cream.

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND INGREDIENTS...

CORNWALL HIGHLIGHTS

- ◆ Fresh crab sandwiches by the beach
- ◆ Sampling local ales from myriad microbreweries
- ◆ Cream teas
- ◆ Pasties

DON'T MISS...

Cheddar Cheese

The town of Cheddar is the true home of its namesake cheese.

Cider

South West England has over 400 varieties of apples to produce cider (or scrumpy as it is also known locally).

Smoked and fresh fish

Local classics include salmon, eel, trout and mackerel or fresh caught local oysters, lobsters and crab.

Cream Teas

A classic in both Devon and Cornwall, but beware of putting your cream before your jam in Cornwall as it is done the opposite way round to Devon!

Cornish Pasties

Pasties, filled with traditional meat, potatoes and vegetables, or in more contemporary ways. The choice is yours!

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND INGREDIENTS...

YORKSHIRE HIGHLIGHTS

- ◆ Yorkshire Pudding
- ◆ Pikelets
- ◆ Wensleydale Cheese

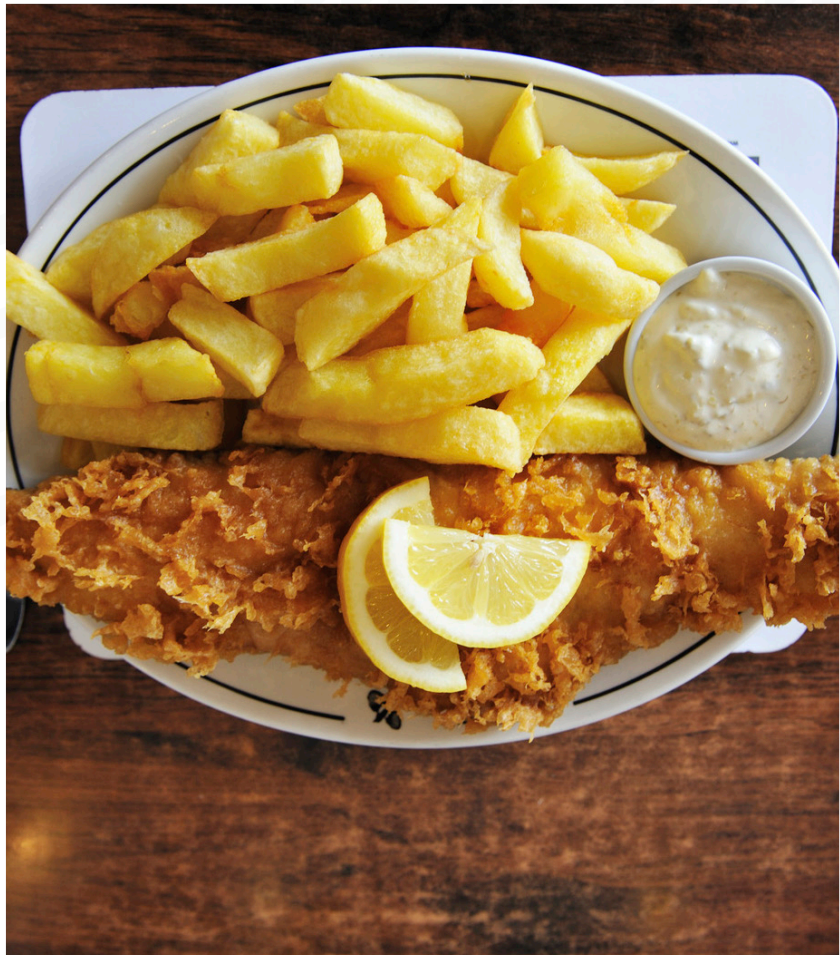

DON'T MISS...

Today, some of Britain's best meat, cheese, beer and baked goods producers can be found in Yorkshire. There is no better place to sample them than in one of the many outstanding pubs, restaurants and tea rooms, or direct from the producer at a farmer's market or farm shop. Locals will also tell you that Whitby is the fish and chip capital of the world!

DID YOU KNOW...

Yorkshire Pudding is recognized across the world as a traditional British dish, but the history of the Yorkshire pudding is shrouded in mystery. There are no cave drawings, hieroglyphics, and so far, no one has unearthed a Roman Yorkshire pudding dish buried beneath the streets of York.

EDINBURGH HIGHLIGHTS

The Scottish Seafood Trail offers an unforgettable journey between 11 seafood restaurants each with a glorious coastal setting on the West Coast of Scotland.

The Malt Whisky Trail through Scotland's spectacular Speyside region and sample 'the water of life' from seven different distilleries.

DON'T MISS...

Scottish Seafood Trail: From the freshest of crab rolls served with a squeeze of lemon and some home-made mayonnaise, to Michelin rated menus that feature a wide range of painstakingly prepared dishes.

A DEFINITE MUST...

Malt Whisky trail: The trail runs along the Moray Speyside region. It is home to historic and famous distilleries, coopers, bottlers, and retailers.

The trail includes many of the world's most famous brands of single malt Scotch whisky.

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND INGREDIENTS...

WELSH HIGHLIGHTS

- ◆ Welsh Lamb
- ◆ Gorwydd Caerphilly Cheese
- ◆ Leeks
- ◆ Welsh Rarebit

DON'T MISS...

Welsh lamb is known around the world for its delicious flavor. Here are some of our favorites: Traditional Roast Lamb, Slow Braised Lamb Shoulder, Cawl, Spices Rack of Lamb & Pot Roasted Leg of Mutton.

DID YOU KNOW...

Welsh Rarebit is a specialty recipe for cheese on toast, and it is easy to make, delicious, and incredibly comforting. It's a family favorite, and a popular British breakfast recipe.

The first recorded reference to the dish comes from 1725, where it was called 'Welsh Rabbit'. This, historians believe, caught on as a joke, but their interpretations differ. In the late 17th and early 18th centuries, the English would often give laughably fancy names to any food or product common to a region or profession.

And of course, this dish does not actually include rabbit.

FOR MORE INFORMATION AND INGREDIENTS...

WELSH RAREBIT

SPICY WELSH LAMB

CUMBRIA HIGHLIGHTS

- ◆ Easter Ledge Pudding
- ◆ Herdwick Hogget
- ◆ Cumberland Sausage
- ◆ Cumberland Rum Nicky
- ◆ Grasmere Gingerbread
- ◆ Sticky Toffee Pudding

DON'T MISS...

Cumberland Sausage is a coarsely-textured English pork sausage, seasoned with pepper, herbs and spices, that is made as a single sausage of one unbroken link up to four feet (1.2 metres) long, wound into a coil. The uncooked sausage will be pinkish inside, with specks of the seasonings visible.

DID YOU KNOW...

Easter ledge pudding is a term given to young wild leaves, mostly bistort or dandelion and nettles. These are boiled and made into a purée enriched with butter, chopped boiled eggs and boiled barley, which is then pressed. This is a perfect side on a plate of lamb.
